Notice to Visitors
New ACT Corrective Services website launch

I am pleased to announce that on the new ACT Corrective Services website will launch today, Monday 19 April 2021. This was a much anticipated and needed change that has been in development for the past year.

The upgrade will allow the website to become more accessible and user friendly and a number of new features will support users with easy access to information and documentation.

Key improvements include:

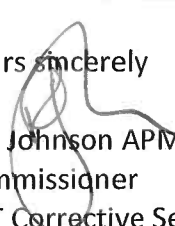

- A completely new layout and design that aligns with the whole of government branding
- Upgraded functionality
- Intuitive navigation
- All content, documentation and information are located under the relevant drop down menu for easy navigation.
- Improved functionality and access to supporting information.

The new URL is www.correctiveservices.act.gov.au, however those visiting our old website will be redirected.

It is important to note that ACTCS will continue to update the content on the new website as required and will ensure the relevant information is available in order for families and friends to maintain contact with detainees while in custody.

We value your feedback and encourage you to send it through to ACTCSExecutiveSupport@act.gov.au

Yours sincerely

Ray Johnson APM
Commissioner
